The necessity for the free coinage of silver is greater now than it was in 1896, because, as we have more taxes and a large national debt to pay, we need more redemption mone ith which to make payments. J. J. Dwyer, of California-No man can tell where we will be in 1900. Predictions must, therefore, be based on "ifs." If the Philippine war is still in active progress in 1990, or if the President and his retorian guard are then actively engaged in carrying out their conspiracy to steal Cuba and especially, if both these oreign questions remain unsolved, there will be but one issue, and that will be "imperialism." In that event the Demoeratic Party will, in my opinion, declare against imperialism, and will win easily. I do not think the anti-trust issue will be allowed to obscure the silver issue. It will be a fight of Democracy vs. plutocracy with the financial question in the forefront.

Admiral Dewey says he feels sure his health will be quite restored ere he reaches the United States.

FITZSIMMONS MEETS MASTER. Knocked Out by Jeffries in the Elerenth

Province of Cavite Cleared of ists. At the arena of the Coney Islan. Athletic Club to-night he defeated Rober Fitzsimmons, world's champion in two classes-middle-weight and heavy-weighteleven rounds of whirlwind fighting He came to the ring a rank outsider an-left it the acknowledged master of the man he defeated. He was never at any time in serious danger, and after the size-up in the earlier rounds of the conwas acknowledged that Jeffries would have an immense advantage in weight height, and age, but the thousands who Wounded-Important Coast Town of Las tipped and backed his opponent to will were sure that he was slow and that he would in that respect be absolutely at the mercy of the past master at the scice of fighting that he was to meet. He proved, on the contrary, that he was just as fast as the man he met, and beat him down to unconscious defeat in a fair fight. He is a veritable giant in stature and marvelously speedy for his immense size. Less that a year ago he appeared in New York, a great, awkward, ungainly boy. To-day he is the lithe, active, alert, trained athlete The men who prepared him for his fight worked wonders with him. They taught aptured, having disappeared, the ma-aptured, having disappeared, the ma-arity sliding away under cover of the crity sliding away under cover of the The transition since he appeared last has been little short of miraculous. At twenty-four he has defeated Robert Fitzsimmons, Tom Sharkey, and Peter Jackson, and if he cares for himself, he will probably be able to successfully defend the title for many years.

another sturdy young giant, has com-out of the West to whip champion pugli

The defeated man was just as good as when on the crispy morning on the plains of far-away Nevada he lowered the colors of the then peerless Corbett. He was just as active, just as clever, just as tricky, and just as fearless of punishment. He went unfalteringly to his defeat. He was the aggressor even at moments when he was bleeding and unsteady, and when was bleeding and unsteady, and when, stunned by the blows he received, he recled instinctively toward his opponent, but found him a different opponent than any he had met, and a difficult man to fight. Jeffries fought from a crouching attitude The rebel sharpshooters kept in hiding that was hard to get at. He held his head intil the American lines had passed and low, his back was bent down, and his left that was hard to get at. He held his head arm was extended.

He kept jabbing away with the left and found no trouble in landing it. It was there that his superior reach told. That giant arm served as a sort of human fender to ward off danger. He showed an excellent defense and the ability to use both hands with skill. He is game, too, for he never shrank from his punish-ment. It was a great fight to watch, and commenced and ended amid scenes of intense excitement. It was all very dramatic The men fought before a crowd of 8,009 persons, and stood up in a great beam of blinding white light. It was like a thou-sand calciums, and it showed their great white bodies in strange relief. When the blood came it was of an intenser red than usual. There was not a suggestion of inerference from the police. ery occupied a seat by the ringside, but never entered the ring. When it was all over he sent Capt. Kenny in to clear the over he sent Capt. Kenny in to clear the ring.

The contest was pulled off without a wrangle, and was devoid of the brutal elements that Chief bevery allezed he feared. Never was a crowd handled with greater order and less friction. It was all perfectly orderly.

The lateness of the hour at which the contestants were announced to appear kept the crowd from seeking the Covey Island club house very early, and Concy, with its merry-go-rounds, Ferris wheels, Elifel towers, gilded cafes, juggiers, and bespangled dancers furnished ample musement and entertainment during the

KILLED ON HER WEDDING DAY.

Husband and Brother Badly Injured as Result of a Charivari. Wichita, Kans., June 11.—Mrs. R. A. Higgins, a bride of two hours, is dead. and her busband and young brother bad-ly injured as the result of a charivant party given them at their home, near Watenga, Okla., Friday night. The charivari party, composed of about twenty friends of the young married people, refused to go when requested to do so, bu continued to make deafening noises by One of the parcy, Harry Randell, deliberately pointed his gun at the young couple and fired. The bride's face and breast were filled with buckshot. She fell, beating on pans and firing shotguns. shot through the longs, and died an haur later. The groom was shot in the face, and a small brother of the bride was also wounded, neither of them fatally, how-
